Westerret Success.—Less than two years since. Prof. Wood opened his store for the manufacture and sale of his preparations, and particularly his wonderful Hair Restorative, and by patient perseverance, relying upon the perfect cheracter of his preparations to accompliat the objects intended in gotting thom up, his business has entarged, until, without the ordinary means of traveling agents, his preparations are found upon the shelves of almost all druggist and medicine dealers in the United States. Canada, and West India Islands. Nor is this result surprising, since his preparations have been used by all classes, old and young gentlemen and ladies of the highest intelligence in all parts of the country, testify to their perfect character when thoroughly tested, and no one can reachlis circular without being convinced this is indeed a discovery worthy of the name. Is it then surprising that the history of the world furnishes no parallel to his ancecess? His store on Market-street, at 114, is filled, not only with the most popular patent medicines, but an immense and beautiful stock of perfumery, fancy and tollet srileies, both foreign and comestic, and we advise all to examine the stock before purchasing elsewhere. was a man of strongly marked character, sufficiently harmonizing, however, with NEW ESTABLISHMENT singular or peculiar, but still presenting a most striking individuality of mind, of dis-position, and of feeling, as uncommon as it was admirable and worthy of emulation .-With a strong and almost unerring judgment-a profound and practical knowledge of human nature, in all its relations of motives and incentives to action-he rarely committed an error in his estimation of those around him engaged in the struggles of business and the active pursuits of life. Although stern and inexorable in discharge of the great duties of life, no man had a kinder heart-none a more charitable disposition, in the contemplation of the frailties incident to our common nature. His integrity, tried in the furnace of a lifetime of enterprising business, was above suspicion. In every relation of life, he was scrupulously honest and faithful; -in business he was ever prompt; -- in social life, he was ever geniul and cheerful in his dis-position;—in his private friendships he was cautious and prudent; but when he once became attached to a friend, his regard knew no coldness, his confidence no doubt or misgiving. His remains were conveyed to their final resting-place, in the family burial-ground on his farm in Hocking ounty, on Sunday last, followed by the sorrows and regrets of the whole community, in which he had been a most respected citizen for half a century. He has left a wife, to whom he was much attached, and five children, who will long mouru their irreparable loss.

BROAD WAY HOTEL, Cincinnati, Ohio.

The undersigned, having again assumed the management of this well fknown establishment, begs trave to say to those who visit Cincinnati, either for business or pleasure that they will find the Broadway Hotel one of the most convenient and desirable stopping places in the city.

It is convenient to the Raif Road Office and Depot, and the Pablic landing; more so than any other Hotel in Cincinnati—and is within a few minutes walk of the Post Office the principle Business localities, and the places of Public 1 musement.

An axtensive range of Bathing Hooms and a Barpiness of Pablic 1 musement.

An extensive range of Bishing Rooms and a Barbor's Shop will be found in the Building.

This house has all the comforts and convenience that can be found in any first class thoulin the West. The whole calabilahment has just been thoroughly coerhanied, removated and re-furnished, and the Paparietor feels assured that those who make his his house this thouse there were the complaint either of his secommocations or his charges, JOSPPH R. CROMWELL.
